2 suspended in mix-up of UP newborns

PTI
ETAH (UP)

A mix-up involving two newborns at a government medical college in Uttar Pradesh's Etah has prompted an inquiry, leading to the suspension of two healthcare workers, officials said on Saturday.

Two women underwent Caesarean deliveries of a boy and a girl on the same day at the Veerangana Avanti Bai Lodhi Medical College.

According to the principal, the girl was kept under medical observation, and an attendant later brought the babies to the ward and allegedly handed them over to the wrong families.

The error led to confusion and a dispute between the two families.

An attendant and a staff nurse were suspended with immediate effect after prima-facie evidence of negligence emerged.

Patanjali announces launch of Civil Services Academy

FP News Service
HARIDWAR

Patanjali has announced the launch of the Patanjali Civil Services Academy with the objective of nurturing IAS, IPS and other Central Services officers rooted in Indian culture, modern science and a spirit of national service. The initiative seeks to integrate ancient Indian wisdom with contemporary administrative requirements and contribute a new direction to India's governance framework.

The academy aims not only to prepare successful civil servants but also to develop nation-oriented citizens who regard service to the country as their highest duty. It has set a long-term goal of creating one crore dedicated citizens.

Yoga Guru Swami Ramdev described the academy as a historic contribution to education, stating that while India is governed by the Constitution, effective implementation of laws depends on the character of officials. He said the academy would follow a "Tri-Education" model combining spiritual knowledge, administrative excellence and academic rigour. Its curriculum will align with the National Education Policy (NEP) and Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS), based on the principles of "Heritage and Science" and "Wisdom and Research."

Former IAS officer Dr N. P. Singh said the academy would help free administration from colonial mindsets and encourage officers to function as public trustees rather than rulers. Renowned educator and civil services mentor Avadh Ojha will lead the academy and conduct a special one-month session on history and motivation.

The fully residential academy, located within Patanjali University, will provide a sattvic environment, yoga-based daily routines, scholarships, rewards for meritorious students, world-class infrastructure, sports facilities and modern learning resources. Several dignitaries attended the launch event.

‘Dharti Ka Doctor’ soil testing technology training concludes

FP News Service
HARIDWAR

A three-day training programme on "Dharti Ka Doctor (DKD) Soil Testing Technology", jointly organised by Patanjali Research Foundation (PRF), Samridhh Gram and the Uttarakhand State Rural Livelihood

Mission (USRLM), concluded successfully on June 13, 2026. The programme was held from June 11 to 13 at the Patanjali campus in Haridwar district, Uttarakhand.

The initiative aims to connect farmers, especially rural women cultivators, with modern soil science.

Through the DKD technology, farmers can easily and accurately assess soil health, enabling them to select appropriate fertilisers according to crop requirements, reduce cultivation costs and increase income.

Welcoming the participants, Dr Vedpriya Arya highlighted PRF's work in agriculture, research and rural development, stating that Patanjali's objective is not limited to product development but also focuses on empowering Indian farmers at the grassroots level.

Dr Yashpal Singh explained the scientific importance of soil testing, noting that farming without knowledge of key nutrients such as nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P) and potassium (K), along with micronutrients, is largely based on guesswork. On the second day, Dr K.N. Sharma provided detailed training on the DKD soil testing methodology, while the ARC team and agricultural experts conducted hands-on sessions.

On the final day, Sushil Kumar Agrawal guided participants on self-employment and entrepreneurship opportunities. Successful participants received certificates and were encouraged to begin fieldwork using DKD kits.

Ventilated hoods planned to reduce bullet train ‘boom’

NEW DELHI

The National High Speed Rail Corporation Limited (NHSRCL), which is constructing the Mumbai-Ahmedabad bullet train corridor, is building 16 ventilated hoods at both ends of eight mountain tunnels to regulate the booming sound generated by train operations.

Officials said the technology is a first for India, as existing railway tunnels do not require ventilated hoods because conventional trains operate at much lower speeds. The bullet train will run at a maximum speed of 320 kmph.

The 508-kilometre corridor passes through challenging terrain and includes seven mountain tunnels in Maharashtra and one in Gujarat. An expert associated with the project said when a high-speed train enters a tunnel, it pushes a large volume of air ahead of it, similar to a piston moving inside a cylinder.

He said, "This sudden compression of air generates pressure waves that travel through the tunnel. If not properly managed, these pressure waves can create a booming noise when the train exits the tunnel." Outlining the benefits, engineers said tunnel hoods act as a transition zone between the open environment and the confined tunnel space.

They said by allowing air to enter and exit more gradually, the hoods help control pressure changes and improve the system's overall aerodynamic performance.

"In simple terms, the tunnel hood helps the train and the air adjust to each other gradually rather than abruptly, making high-speed rail travel quieter, smoother and more comfortable," the NHSRCL said.

This reduces the intensity of pressure waves, minimises tunnel boom and helps maintain smoother airflow. Tunnel hoods are a common feature on high-speed rail systems in countries operating bullet trains, where trains travel at speeds exceeding 300 kmph.

"Their adoption on the Mumbai Ahmedabad bullet train project reflects the use of advanced engineering solutions and international best practices to ensure world-class standards of safety, comfort and environmental performance," the NHSRCL said.

Four die after inhaling toxic gas in abandoned coal mine

IANs
RAMGARH (JHARKHAND)

Four youths died after inhaling toxic gas during illegal mining inside an abandoned coal mine in Jharkhand's Ramgarh district on Saturday, officials said.

The incident occurred in the Argadda forest area along the Giddi-Ramgarh border, where a group of youths had entered a closed mine for excavation work. Two of the deceased were residents of Ramgarh district, while the other two hailed from Hazaribagh.

According to information received, one youth first lost consciousness after being exposed to toxic gas inside the mine. In an attempt to rescue him, his three companions descended into the mine one after another, but they too collapsed after inhaling the gas.

The deceased have been identified as Ashish Rajwar (25), Kishor Ravani (35), Deva Kumar Bedia (25), and W Bedia (30). Deva Kumar Bedia and W Bedia were residents of the Sirka-Argadda area in Hazaribagh, while Ashish Rajwar and Kishor Ravani belonged to the Sirka Buddha Bazaar locality in Ramgarh.

Following the incident, local police and villagers reached the spot.

A 14-member rescue team from Central Coalfields Limited's Naisarai mines was deployed.

After nearly an hour-long operation, all four youths were pulled out and rushed to a hospital.

Doctors declared two of them dead on arrival, while the remaining two succumbed during treatment.
